Legenda

Published by the Class Representatives of the

Arthur Hill High School

Saginaw, Michigan

Volume XXX

Dedication

To those hardy lumbermen who formed the nucleus of the now thriving city of Saginaw, the Legenda staff of nineteen hundred thirty sincerely dedicates this book.

They met the hardships of nature with true fortitude, overcame them, and in so doing not only laid the foundation for the future city of Saginaw but also made possible its excellent educational system.

Foreword

We the Board and Staff of the Arthur Hill News edition of the Legenda present to you the nineteen hundred thirty annual. In so doing we wish to gratefully acknowledge the loyal support of the faculty, student body, and business folk.

Our aim has been to give you at a nominal price a complete history of the school year.

We have done our best to accomplish this purpose and present the book to you hoping it will be the source of many pleasant memories now as well as in the future.

STUDY HALL

ONE day, last semester, a smell of earth pervaded the air. The scent led to—the old work shop room. A busy group was working there. The floor was being torn up and because of the avalanche of boards being thrown from the window, students were moved to feeling a great pain in the regions of their chests. It couldn't really be possible that the school was being torn down from the bottom up!

This year, after its redecorating, the hall was ready for occupancy. As the other rooms of Arthur Hill, this is a room of many duties. While it serves daily as a study, lunch, and waiting room, debaters and auctioneers have made use of it.

A sight-seeing tour will reveal many things. As a student enters, he sees a large room, well-lighted by fifteen lights and thirteen windows of which only twelve are doing duty. There are seats for approximately one hundred and thirty students. Fourteen of these seats are formed from old fashioned double desks and might be very convenient for a two-some, but a teacher's desk stands in front of the room. The chair is occupied by the following teachers during the following hours: Mr. Robert Thornton, first; Miss Florence Wells, second; Coach Stanley Anderson, advisory; Mr. Ivan McCormack, third; Coach Anderson, noon; Miss Coila Start, fourth; and Mr. William Lee, fifth.

These teachers are stationed in the study hall to see that quiet is maintained and that all students assigned there, show up every day and spend an hour diligently studying. Of course, any one can use the hall as a study room during vacant hour, but those assigned there must do so until they are informed that their presence is no longer required.

There is a conglomeration of furniture and possessions spread around the hall. At the front of the room stands a bookcase with a new set of thirty volumes of the encyclopedia Americana. There are two large and two small dictionaries to enable a student to read these huge volumes.

An account of the rest of the contents of the room is as follows: three pigeon-hole arrangements to hold books, one pair of gym shoes, four black boards, two entrances, three tables, three pencil sharpeners, one mirror, one container for used paper cups, three waste paper baskets of which one is an old paste board box, one paper cup container made by the Paper Utilities Co., Inc. of New York City, forty-five coat hooks, and an uncountable number of books explaining why some students don't have their lessons next day.

So, with this large and varied assortment of furnishings, Arthur Hill's study hall was put into operation this year and now offers the student, desirous of knowledge, a quiet place to study in except when the band, or orchestra, or glee clubs are practicing.

By Eleanor Pollard.

ASSEMBLIES

THIS semester has brought to Arthur Hill a course of interesting assemblies. They have been entertaining as well as informative, and it was because of the spirit which the students showed that the assembly committee, headed by Mr. O. L. Poulson, was inspired to work hard in preparing more and better programs. The athletic association made possible these assemblies, as well as the accommodation of the large crowds during the basketball season, by the purchase of bleachers placed on both sides of the room, beneath the balconies.

On November nineteenth, the Reverend John C. Schroeder of the First Congregational church spoke to the students. In contrast to the dignity of it as a meeting came the pep assembly of November twenty-seventh, when everyone, including the most reserved, sent up his voice to the sky with enthusiasm for the loyalty of the football team.

February, with its many world famous birthdays, brought forth some excellent student speakers. Carl Eggert presided over the program.

Probably the most unusual assemblies of the year were the ones put on by groups of students from Mr. Poulson's physics classes on March thirteenth, and by members of the art department on May twenty-ninth.

Arthur Hill honored on March twenty-seventh the athletic and literary achievements of many of its students. Superintendent Miller presented to the school, a plaque of bronze and walnut inscribed with the following words—"High School Champions, 1930, Region VIII, Class A." Letters were presented to the members of the team who had earned them so well. Announcement was made of those who had won membership in the National Scholarship Society of Secondary Schools. The final presentation came when the new members of the Quill and Scroll society were given their pins.

Unrivalled as a speaker, came "Dad" Elliott to Arthur Hill on Thursday, April the thirty-first.

The appearance of the school musical organizations, under Mr. McCormack, came on May seventh when a program was presented in honor of national music week.

The only dedicatory assembly of the year took place on May twenty-second when the new school flag was presented to the student body by Dorothy Schroeder. The Rev. Mr. A. H. Harnly was speaker of the morning. The last assembly was an honor assembly on June sixth.

For this very enjoyable season, Mr. Poulson and his assembly committee: Mrs. Dorothy Giesel, Miss Bernice Gibbs, Mr. I. R. McCormack, Mr. T. W. DeHaven, Dan Bixby, Isabelle McKellar, and Alice Cross are largely responsible, and they deserve a great deal of credit.

FLORENCE LOUISE ANDRE—

HAROLD W. BURCHILL—

SAYS WHO—

All Hillite seniors, step forward and read your futures! The seventy-five cents or one dollar you paid for your annual entitles you to a free spin on the wheel of fate! Have a look-see into what is to come to you!

Ah, a young lady; Leona Aldrich, you say the name is? There, a spin, and as the wheel stops, yes, she is going to be private secretary to Ernest Brater, president of General Motors. Well, that spin killed two birds, didn't it? Next, who is going to be next? Ladies and gentlemen, it is a curly-headed girl whose name appears to be Ruth Alger. The wheel turns, slows, and stops on the key which signifies an aviatrix. See, I spin the roulette again, and read "ranch-owner" which title is to be claimed by Marguerite Almy. At last a boy comes forward, giving his name as Edwin Arft. He is not impatient. He must have known his future will be successful, for yes, the magic foreteller stops on "speaker of the house of representatives." Another boy, Emil Asman, presents himself now to hear the glad news. It is glad indeed, because Emil is labeled by the wheel as a "successful chemist."

Ladies and gentlemen, the fever is spreading! See the seniors crowd about me, seeking the truth! Peggy Baker, you are ordained to be the superintendent of the Chicago hospitals. This crowding is too much, boys and girls! Form a line to the left and write your names on this paper. I will spin this disk of destiny, write down the results, and lo! Seniors of Arthur Hill, here you may read your inevitable destinations:

Ann Batcke and Harriet Bauer—Proprietors of school of Asiatic dancing. Raymond Becker—Commercial artist for Walker Sign company, accompanied by Leo Perrin. Gladys Benjamin and Emma Kretchman—Girls' athletic coaches of U. of M. Ralph Bernecker, Adrian Pohlman, John Midcalf, George Robinson, John Spenner, and Arthur Gelow—Salesmen for Schust company. Robert Ulrich, Carrol Tucker, Fred Spamer, and Frank Minard—Merchants. Lorna Boesnecker, Josephine Erickel, and Gertrude Schrank—Proprietors of the National Beauty Shoppe, and Margaret Bennett, Opal Butterfield, Gertrude Lauckner, Marion Wheeler, Lydia Zittel, and Grace Rutherford as operators. Edwin Schaefer, Kay Starkweather, Charlotte Frye, Joyce Ryan, Helen Rockwood, and Geraldine Kinsman—Associated with Bonstelle players. Harold Riedel, Elden Pagels, and Eugene Nettleton—Attorneys-at-law. Reva Speaker—Designer in "Alyce Frox" shop in New York, and of course she is ably assisted by Edna Schellhas, Evelyn Schwark, Maggie Podolsky, Doris McLean, Helen Dirker, Helen Smith, and Marion Killen. Raymond Klemm—Explorer in Gobi desert, whose companions are Roland Huebner, Walter Kirchner, Morris Lenk, George Brown, Ern Chamberlain, and Earl Chisholm. Annabelle and Isabelle McKellar—Editors of 4-H club section of Farm Bureau News. Vera Peters, Doroldyne Schindehette, Marie Kreutzfeldt, and Ilah Pierce—Proprietors of Rent-a-Wig Shoppe. Muriel Schultz, Marion Walter, and Florence Schendel—Librarians at Jackson. Dorothy Ann Fernette, Varalene Hooper, Dorothea Plambeck, Dorothy Brown, Lolita Champion, Ruth Corson, Marguerite McKellar, Dorothy Dustin, and Dorothy Goulding—Bell Telephone operators. Lyle Schumate and Earl Smith—Co-travelers of Fritz Kreisler. Marcelyn Zehender, Erma Bartotti, Dorothy Peters, Wilma Schuette, and Norma MacDonald—Instructors at Business Institute. Alice Coash, Pauline Dowis, Mary Hayden, Harriet Larsen, and Buelah Watters—traveling in Europe. Jennie Grover, Wilda Hodgson, and Minnie Buckler—Hostesses on S. S. Leviathan. Clarissa Buettner—Claimed by grand opera, with Beatrice Grimm as her cheerful accompanist. Eleanor Herzberg, Edna Hensler, Marjorie Sickles, and Ruth Dixon—missionaries to China. Nancy Miller and Glenna Brugge—Successful farmerettes. Emmaline Bolger—Assistant principal of Saginaw high. Russell Eggers—Judge in court where speeders are brought up for hearings. James Corson—Superintendent of Pere Marquette traffic. Sidney Light—Inventor of new style light bulbs. Erle Mattern—Golf instructor at Rolling Greens. Bennett McArthur—Fate same as pugilistic present, only more-so. Eleanor Pollard—Assistant in English at Sorbonne while collecting material for her first novel. George McNish—Boys' secretary at "Y." Willard Ducharme—Secretary of Interior, to the first woman president of the United States, Dorothy Schroeder. Naomi Paquette—In string ensemble which includes Lulu Brenner, Marie Fales, Helen Gunther, and Mina Kolbow. Mary Skuzcas and Ruth Bowden—Missionaries to Lithuania. Stanley Sobol—Prominent family doctor, while Seal Wallace is a surgeon, Howard Thomas, a physician; Marjorie Stemler, an oculist; Geraldine Walch, a dentist; Isabel Wiechmann, a chiropidist; and Erma Kleinschmidt, a chiropractor. Ethel Swackhammer

—Author of "The Hard, Cruel Fate of Brunettes." Irene Reinke—Trained nurse, and yes, in this field of work are Helen Richards, Dealia Rock, and Frances Rosewig. Mary Reynolds—Eminent Journalist, while Franklin Lewis is a feature writer for the New York Times Book Review. Viola LeClair and Rosemary Lehan—Owners of an ice cream establishment more popular than Mooney's. Jean Mason, Elona Simkins, Rosemary Needham, and Helen O'Brien—A quartette of some sort, but very probably not a singing one. Lillian Zorn, Helen Williams, and Dora Zeilinger—Salvation Army workers. Doris McLean and Helen Dirker—Rejuvenators of the former firm, Dirker and McLean. Ruth Neurminger and Myrtle Pickett—Engaged in Campfire Girl work, while Margaret Salisbury and Elise Webster champion the Girl Reserves, with Helen Loebs, Virginia McManus, Adeline Miller, and Junior Loeffler working for the Girl and Boy Scout organizations. Edward Ruppel and Wayne Daykin—Printers of announcements and programs for high schools. Frances Sill—Matron of an orphan asylum. Lillian Rice—Plantation owner in India. Jean Turnbull—Latin fellowship at Alma college. Helen Breese—Silent partner in Breezy Cafe Service Shop. Emiline Brenner—Chief model in Marshall Field's evening wear department. Lydia Breternitz—Champion of the cause of long hair for aged women. Kenneth Phillips—Football coach at Harvard university. Howard Otto—Michigan's attorney general. George Brown—Main attraction in all contests for short men. Helen Burr—Chairman of committee investigation on how to grow tall. Billy Curott—Chief window-washer for some company, incorporated. Alice Cross—A very genial woman, not a bit cross. Fred Davis—Successor to Davis Music House manager. Marion Day and Venice Shepherd—City editors of the Saginaw Daily News. Maurice Day—Successor to Mr. Dersch in the dungeon. Richmond Johnson—Rival to Willa Cather. Chester Dent—Manager of dances at Saginaw's new million dollar park. Harold Dill—Holder of world record for discuss throwing. Gerald French—Violinist in David Block's symphony orchestra which appears on the Chautauqua platform. Lyman Meissner is a member on the same circuit. Arthur Denglar—Auspicious young druggist. Mary Sey—Superintendent of Saginaw General hospital. Margaret Doidge—Stock owner in Dodge Brothers' company. Elizabeth Duff and Ione Fern—Make-up engineers in a Hollywood studio. Carl Eggert—Extemporizor for enforcement of anything. John Enzer—Catcher for the White Sox. Arthur Fruechtel, Stanley Graham, Eugene Harrison, and Albert Hoffman—Cadets at West Point, while Arthur Hoffman, Ralph Kellar, Claude Lemmer, and Abraham Kahn joined the marines. Vincent Gerber—Proud owner of merged gum factories of the world. Janice Gerke—Commercial teacher at A. H. H. S. Wilma Glinke—Art shop on Genesee avenue. Eugene Grady and Russell Kauffman—Pilots for U. S. air mail service. Adelma Hahn—Mayor of St. Charles, with Anita Locke as deputy sheriff. Richard Harrison—President of Bay City Junior college. Arthur Kackmeister—Proprietor of Keeth Apartments. Louise Koehn—Ambulance driver for L. Koehn. Byrdeen Lees—Chairman of WCX broadcasting station.

"WHITE THURSDAY"

DECEMBER nineteenth? Of course! I remember now; that is the date of the big snowstorm of nineteen twenty-nine, and I mean really big. Surely everybody remembers how less than half of the teachers arrived, and at nine o'clock Mr. Brock, the principal, told us that we needn't stay longer. So most of us didn't stay longer, and some of us did. Howard Ducharme brought a beautifully shaped snowball into the building, and then had to thrust it hurriedly into his pocket when he saw the janitor approaching. It seems that I heard some wild tale about Mr. Medsker, who lives way out past the end of the bus line. He waded to school through knee-deep drifts. However, he couldn't have been much more excited than those who walked along with heads downward bent to avoid the stinging snow in their faces, and suddenly found themselves face to face with a great, big, maganimous—horse, pulling a snow plow!

A group of adventurous Hillites spent the remainder of the morning in prowling about the further precints of the school. A helpful auxiliary to their wanderings was a camera, which they manipulated from many advantageous points, among which was the tower which is located at the Court-Harrison door of the school. The snapshots and the memory of the storm are all that remain of one of the most eventful "White Thursdays" of the school year, though school was not held that Thursday.

IN the good schooner, Arthur Hill, we set sail on the twenty-eighth day of February in the year nineteen hundred and twenty-eight to journey across the dark sea of knowledge, with a worthy captain and first mate, Dan Bixby and Dorothy Schroeder, respectively, to steer us clear of all hazards and tempests.

During the first lap of the voyage we fared well, every man holding the same position except that the scrolls were put into the hands of Henrietta Peckover.

All went well during the second lap with Dorothy Schroeder as captain and Lester Freidinger, Wilbert Milstead, and Virginia Morgan as mates during the first half. The second half, Virginia Morgan took her place as captain with Dan Bixby, Henrietta Peckover, and Arthur Greenwald for mates. During this time we assisted in the "Junior-Senior Hop" and the banquet of the same name.

When the last half of our third lap ends, we hope to have safely landed, one and all, at the good port Commencement.

11B CLASS HISTORY

THE 11B class of 1930 is one of the school's most versatile groups. An artist, an actress, several journalists, athletes, and other school celebrities are contained in this happy assemblage. More 11B's were included in the cast for this year's Junior play than either 11A's or 12B's. The cast for the play, which was "Skinner's Dress Suit," included Julia Brown, Louis White, Glenn Rickard, Sophia Pike, Ruth Cardy, and Nellie Blakeman. Julia took the part of "Honey" Rutherford, the leading lady. Julia is an active Girl Reserve and a member of the annual board. She is the class president, and is supported in her duties of piloting her class by William Burt, Louis White, and Arthur Dunlap, who hold the respective offices of vice president, treasurer, and secretary. Arthur represented Arthur Hill in the sub-district oratorical contest at Bay City on April 11. His oration, "Speed With Safety," won third place.

Students of whom the class is proud because they stand out in scholarship are David Stewart, Allan Fisher, and Erwin Lauckner. David had an all "A" average for the first semester of the present school year, while Allan and Erwin each made an all "A" average with one "B" for the same period of time.

Artistic viewpoints of life are held by Fred Krause and Fred Eller, who are both much interested in painting and drawing. Wilbert Milstead has played his way to fame among the students on the keyboard of a piano.

The athletic reputation of the 11B's has been attained mainly through the efforts of Lester Cradit, in football; Robert Harnden, in baseball; and Dale Clark and Gerald Green, in track.

ALUMNI NEWS

MOST of the members of classes that have been graduated before the class of 1930 Hillites are now plodding through life in an attempt to reach their goal. Many of them are yet living in Saginaw while others are spread over the vast territory of the United States.

Some of the classes were large; others were small, yet today each member is contributing his bit to the development of the community in which he lives.

It is interesting to know how different classes have progressed since their graduation days. Therefore, we are reprinting a record of the alumni of every five years, beginning with 1915. The class of 1900 has been added as it was in 1900 that the first annual was published for a class of only twenty-six pupils, six of whom were boys.

But to go on with the story:

CLASS OF 1900

Many of the girls in this class have married. They are as follows:

Edith Gertrude Beach; Flora Bither—Mrs. Vincent; Helen Clark—Mrs. Campbell; Edna Marie Dailey—Mrs. Snow; Zuelly Sorber—Mrs. McLandress; Jessie Hitchings—Mrs. Morgan; Maude Martin; Lydia MacKinnon—Mrs. Paul Smith; Ella Utter—Mrs. Brockeldank; and Elsie Hackett—Mrs. McGilray.

Among the group of teachers are the following: Martha T. Blatz—teaching at Saginaw high; Mrs. Campbell; Edna Hackett; Genevieve W. Purmort; Jeanette Shaw; and Nellie Tracy.

Pearl Dean is private secretary to Milrin Riley in Detroit.

Four of the above are living in distant cities: Edith Beach; Maude Martin—Los Angeles; Elsie Hackett—Oregon; and Edna Hackett—Seattle.

The six boys of the class have picked a wider variety:

Charles G. Brater is selling real estate and insurance. H. Mead Hammond is working for the Saginaw Washboard company in Chicago. Theodore Braun is teaching in Detroit. William J. Morgan is selling real estate. Raymond L. Cooper is selling wooden heels for women's shoes.

The following members of the class have died since graduation:

Helen Duffy, Leo J. Fitzharris, Francis Traber, and Bertha H. Romeike.

CLASS OF 1915

Those working in Saginaw:

Karl Ahrens—salesman of Wolverine Cigar Company; Ed Dezelsky—contractor; Harold Davis—salesman for W. J. Davis Music House; Earl Ganschow—assistant manager of Saginaw Finance Corporation; Clarence Gelow—manager of Russell Electric Company; John Orton Goodsell—Dentist; Wyatt Harper—laborer; Daniel Horgan—watchman; Ralph Kennedy—teller at Bank of Saginaw; Francis Nash—salesman for Standard Oil Company; Jay Orr—switchman; Wilbur Richter—secretary for Saginaw Ice and Coal Company. Clarence Roeser—real estate; Thoman Saylor—department manager at Morley Brothers; Emanual Speckhard—teller Peoples' Savings Bank; Arthur Tessin—draftsman at Baker-Perkins Company; and Leah Wilde—teacher at Stone school.

Married:

Ed. Dezelsky, Harold Davis; Earl Ganschow, Clarence Gelow, John Orton Goodsell; Wyatt Harper, Daniel Horgan, Ralph Kennedy, Francis Nash, Jay Orr, Thomas Saylor, Gertrude Schneider, Emanual Speckhard, Marguerite Smith, and Arthur Tessin.

CLASS OF 1920

Many members of this class have moved from Saginaw, others are working at home. They are as follows:

Walter Burrell—salesman at Booth and Boyd Lumber Company; George Coash—lawyer; Margaret Cadagen—bookkeeper at Jarvis-Yawkey shops; Frederick Case—vice president, treasurer of W. L. Case and Company; Russell Christie—bookkeeper for International Harvester Company; Arthur Crowley—teaching at Oberlin College; Dorothy Eggert—draftsman for Frantz & Spence; Louis Goldstein—laborer; Myra Goodrow—salesman for Wm. SCHOLASTICS

JULIUS IPPEL MERIT CUP

THE Ippel cup was established in 1922 by the friends and business associates of the late Julius W. Ippel. It was first presented at that time and remains a property on the terms that each year the name of that senior, girl or boy, who has done the most to further the best interests of the school shall be engraved upon it.

This award is made by a committee composed of the superintendent of the schools, Chester F. Miller, the principal of the school, I. M. Brock, and one alumnus chosen by them. "Character, scholastic standing, participation and achievement in recognized school activities, qualities of leadership, regard for authority, evidence of future public spirit, and sense of service, and other elements which make for thorough and constructive American citizenship," are considered when the award is made.

The seniors to whom the award has been made are:

1922, Harry Hawkins; 1923, Raymond Hart; 1924, Walter Strobel; 1925, Roland Waite; 1926, Delbert Rice; 1927, Helen Cartwright; 1928, Ben Kessel; 1929, Clarence Steltzriede; 1930?

MICHIGAN HONOR TROPHY

THE Saginaw branch of University of Michigan club presented the Michigan Honor Trophy to Arthur Hill high in 1928. This trophy is awarded each year to the boy, senior or junior, who is judged to be outstanding in scholarship, athletics, and leadership. It is a tablet which has two panels, designed for the engraving of fourteen names.

The committee which selects the winner is composed of the principal of the school, the junior and senior advisers, and the athletic adviser. The president of the Saginaw University of Michigan club acts as an ex-officio member.

William Morgan was the first student to be honored with having his name engraved upon the trophy. Kenneth Phillips is the 1930 winner.

By Marie Schleicher.

Ernest Brater Eleanor Pollard Maurice Day Isabelle McKellar Walter Kirchner Dorothy Dustin

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS

FOUR scholarships are awarded, one each year, to the senior who makes known to the Board of Education his desire to compete for the award, and wins the highest scholastic average of those competing. The scholarships are: John Moore, Wells-Stone, Alonzo L. Bingham, and the Otto Roeser. The pupil who is awarded the scholarship receives two hundred and fifty dollars each year for four years to be applied on a course at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. Six scholarships were awarded before 1900.

Students winning the scholarships since 1900 are:

Alonzo L. Bingham	1900	Genevieve Purmort
Otto Roeser	1901	George H. McLellan
John Moore	1902	Frederick C. Morgan
Wells-Stone	1903	Louise Riemold

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

EARLY in the school year of 1929, Arthur Hill and Saginaw Eastern high schools were invited to organize local chapters of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools and plans were made for accepting the invitation. Miss Lillian Morgan was named honorary sponsor.

The society is a national organization with chapters in practically all of the larger secondary schools in the country, with a membership of more than 13,000 students. It is a branch of the Phi Beta Kappa, the national honor society for colleges and universities.

Membership in the organization is based on scholarship, service, leadership, and character. Students are eligible for membership during the second semester of their junior year and during their senior year. To be eligible, students must stand in the upper third of their class in scholastic averages. Of the number to be elected to membership each year, only 15 per cent of the 12A class can be taken or five per cent from each of the 11A, 12B and 12A classes. Any student chosen in a lower class forfeits his pin if he falls below the upper third in his grades during the rest of the time in school. The requirements are much higher than most of the honorary scholastics societies and a higher scholastic average is expected as a result of the plans for organizing chapters in the local senior high schools.

The method of choice for membership is thorough. The grades of each student are averaged for the entire time spent in high school. From these the list of those scholastically in the highest third of the class is taken. This list is typed alphabetically, with no distinction as to standings. Each teacher receives a copy and remarks on the students who have been in her classes, under the headings of leadership, service, and character. The committee then makes a choice, assisted by this information. This year the entire fifteen per cent was chosen from the 12A class, because of the short length of time which was given the office for averaging the marks.

It is planned, after this year, to select five per cent from the 12A, 12B, and 11A classes, so that when each class graduates it will have 15 per cent of its number as members.

At Arthur Hill, a committee was appointed by Principal I. M. Brock to work out details for organizing the chapter. The group was headed by Miss Ella Woodman, and includes Miss Marie Olsen, Miss Marguerite Bechtold, Mr. R. E. Trippensee, Mr. A. G. Dersch, and Mr. Glenn Barney.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Franklin Lewis	President	Adelma Hahn

Edwina Johnson	Secretary-Treasurer	Dorothy Schroeder

Adviser—Miss Mattie G. Crump

THE Treanor chapter of the Quill and Scroll society has completed the third year of its organization in Arthur Hill. Requirements for membership are strict, for only those students who rank in the upper third of their class in scholarship are admitted to the society. They must be of junior or senior classification and must have done superior work in some phase of journalistic writing or business management. Finally, all entries and specimens of work must be approved by the national secretary-treasurer of the society.

The purpose of Quill and Scroll is to instill in students the ideal of scholarship; to advance the standards of the profession of journalism by developing better journalists and by inculcating a higher code of ethics; and to promote exact and dispassionate thinking and clear and forceful writing.

Meetings are held in the evening every two weeks. During the first semester literary work done by the members was read and criticised, and a study was made of the markets for high school work. The project for the second semester was a revision of the Arthur Hill Handbook so as to make it consistent with the present administration. Attention was paid to contests in which high school students could enter material.

Ten new members were formally initiated into the organization at the beginning of the second semester and received the Quill and Scroll pin as the badge of membership. Eight new members were recognized at the Honor assembly of June 6.

An auction of lost and found articles and a sandwich sale were sponsored to earn money for a page in the Legenda.

Members of the society and news staff attended a tea dance given by the Saginaw high Quill and Scroll on the seventeenth of April. Several parties have been held jointly with the news staff during the year.

HILL GIRL SPEAKS OVER NATIONAL HOOK-UP

PERHAPS the most unusual honor to be conferred upon any Hill student during the year was that of being selected from a large group to speak over a nationwide radio hook-up. This is the achievement of Isabelle McKellar.

Isabelle was selected from a group of eligible girls by officials of the federal department of agriculture to speak during a 4H club program from the Chicago studios of the National Broadcasting company on March 1.

The subject of her talk was "The Value of Club Work to the Club Girl." In it she carried an appeal for extended club activities, and their worth to youthful character formation.

For the past six years Isabelle has been actively engaged in 4H club work in her home at Freeland, Michigan. Twice during that time she has placed among the thirteen boys and girls recognized as national leaders in the contests conducted by the National Farm Journal. In 1925 she won sixth place in the national clothing judging contest. Her work in advancing the clothing project in her club work won honorable mention in 1928.

Of her experience in speaking over the radio Isabelle says, "I felt no different than if I were talking to a group of friends, because we are all friends in the 4H clubs."

By Mary Reynolds.

DAN BIXBY

DAN BIXBY, president of the Arthur Hill chapter of the Hi-Y club, was elected to the position of 1930 vice president of the state Hi-Y, at the Order Boys' conference, which was held in Grand Rapids, November 29-30. In addition to the regular duties of a vice president, Dan will help with the plans for the program for next year's conference. He has charge of arrangements for district meetings of the club.

ORDER OF GREGG ARTISTS MEMBERSHIP

EIGHT students of Arthur Hill achieved the honor of being members of the Order of Gregg Artists for superior merit in shorthand penmanship in a contest sponsored by the Gregg Publishing company.

Janice Gerke, Harriet Larsen, Marguerite McKellar, and Elise Webster were awarded gold pins and Janice Gerke, Harriet Larsen, Marguerite McKellar, Marjorie Stemler, Ethel Swackhamer, Elise Webster, Helen Williams, and Dora Zeilinger received certificates. Miss Marie Olsen, shorthand instructor, received the Pearl O. G. A. pin.

This is the first time Arthur Hill has entered this contest in recent years.

ARTHUR HILL RIVALS GAY ATLANTIC CITY

THERE is not much difference between A. C. and A. H. Neither is there much variance between Atlantic City and Arthur Hill. Both pride themselves on the board walk.

The beauty spot of Saginaw is located five feet west of the Keeth hotel and runs about fifty yards in a north-south direction. Here, the boys with gray spats are supplanted by fellows with black and white sport shoes whenever a sunshiny day graces the calendar. Here also, the lassies display their feminine charms to their admiring masculine friends.

Big chested athletes with large A. H.'s on their sweaters, stroll nonchalantly down the promenade.

Meek sophomores timidly walk along hoping that some day they too will be shining stars on the Hill's horizon. Wise juniors wander in a dazed condition, resulting from struggling with Pascal's law, Theorem VII, and other afflictions which second termers must suffer. Wishing that they could unbend and step off their high horse and really enjoy themselves, the dignified seniors pick their way leisurely along the planks.

The only difference between Arthur Hill and Atlantic City is that the board-walk of the former leads to the sea, the Hillite's pride goes to the study hall. But then, the murmuring of the studious occupants is very similar to the voice of Father Ocean.

ELEVEN students of Arthur Hill won 14 ribbon awards at the annual art exhibit held at Hoyt library and sponsored by the Saginaw Women's club during the week of April 14-20.

Those who won the awards and the work on which they were rated are as follows: first prize winners—Elizabeth Duff, monograms; Elizabeth Duff, silk wall hanging; Ruth Dennis, lettering; and Betty Spamer, silhouette; winners of second prizes—Elizabeth Duff, interior decoration; Arthur Greenwald, lettering; James Corson, lead book ends; and Carl Eggert, architecture; third prizes—Leo Perrin, water color; Louise Yahrmarkt, lettering; Neil Wallace, book ends; and Leo Perrin, pastel; honorable mentions—Harry Bartlett, silhouette; and Robert Rosin, Christmas card.

The J. D. E. prize of 10 dollars was won by Mrs. Margis, who displayed a landscape of great charm and simplicity, enhanced by the use of pastel shades of violet, gold, and rose pinks.

A former student of North Intermediate school, Margaret Hanson, now a student at Bay City Central, submitted numerous drawings of varied types and won many prizes.

The exhibit which opened on April 14, closed on Easter Sunday, April 20, with a sacred concert which was open to the general public.

RICHARD GRIFFITH, art student, was making a poster for the state fire prevention slogan contest last winter, when his anger overcame him and into a nearby waste paper basket flew the poster.

Along came Louise Yahrmarkt, another art student, who saw the fine qualities in Richard's poster, picked it out from among the waste paper, finished it, and sent it in to the state contest. Among the thousands of others submitted, this one was chosen third best and ten dollars was the award.

Richard claimed that it was his idea that put the poster in third position, while Louise debuted that she completed the work and sent it in.

Who deserved the prize?

NEWS BOARD IN BOARD ROOM

THE Arthur Hill News, the weekly newspaper of the Arthur Hill high school, entered three contests for publications during the last year. It was placed in the second group in the eastern contest, first-class honor rating in the national contest, and third individual paper by the state press association.

The rating in the second group was awarded by the Columbia Scholastic Press association of Columbia university, New York City, in its sixth annual convention which was held during March 13, 14, and 15. The paper was judged on make-up, general appearance, form, content, scope, structure and quality of writing, advertising, and general considerations such as originality and evidences of being representative of the school.

First-class honor rating was the grade given by the All-American Critical Service for newspapers which is conducted by the National Press association of Minneapolis, Minnesota. The class in which the News was listed for judging was determined by the school's enrollment. The rating was earned by grades received in various divisions such as news values, sources, editing, writing, editorials, entertaining matter, headlines, and make-up. Special mention was made of good news coverage.

The Michigan Interscholastic Press association of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, placed the News as third individual paper.

The purpose of entering these contests is to find out how the Arthur Hill News ranks with regard to other high school newspapers, in order that weak points may be improved.

CREATIVE WORK HONOR

FRANKLIN LEWIS, a senior in Arthur Hill, has been awarded third place in a journalistic contest for the best personal interviews published in high school newspapers during nineteen twenty-nine and thirty. The award was made by the Quill and Scroll society in its book, "Best Creative Work in American High Schools."

Franklin's interview, which was selected as third best among those submitted from all sections of the country, was given him by Jascha Heifetz, noted violinist, who appeared in the Saginaw Kiwanis concert course this year.

This interview was published in the January twenty-fourth issue of the Arthur Hill News.

ALPHA RHO TAU

President	James Corson
Vice President	Betty Spamer
Secretary-Treasurer	Elizabeth Duff
Student Council	Arthur Greenwald
Sponsor	Miss Elnora Laughlin

THE Alpha Rho Tau is one of the new organizations of Arthur Hill, having been organized the second semester of last year. Meetings are held each Wednesday, at which art projects are developed.

The first of the year the members made Japanese crepe luncheon sets, designing them with wax crayons.

Second semester the club was divided into two groups, one specializing in oil painting and the other in handicraft. The former painted studies in still life while the latter designed and cut out copper paper knives.

As a contribution to the social life of the school, the club sponsored a very unique party, "The Carnival Dance," on December 7, and a tea dance on May 7.

The members not in the picture are, Raymond Card, James Corson, Ruth Nuerminger, Leo Perrin, and Kay Starkweather.

ARTS-DRAMATIC CLUB

President	Charlotte Frye
Vice President	Helen Gunther
Secretary	Dorothy Dustin
Treasurer	Helen Breese
Student Council	Arthella Bate
Sponsor	Mr. Stanley Schubert

THE purpose of the Arts Dramatic club is to stimulate an interest in dramatics among students. Meetings are held each Wednesday night, at which plays are read, discussed, and produced.

With the co-operation of the Parent-Teachers' association, it gave its first production, "Once There Was a Princess," on November 22, at North Intermediate auditorium.

A point system for the club was established this year allowing points for taking a role, directing, prompting, or managing a play, fulfilling an office, and keeping a dramatics scrap-book.

The club has furnished productions for such organizations as the Parent-Teachers' association and school assemblies.

On June 4, the club presented three one-act plays: "Lotus Flowers," "Hearts," and "Good Medicine," before an invited audience.

ONCE THERE WAS A PRINCESS

"ONCE There Was A Princess," which was presented by the Arts-Dramatic club on November 22, 1929, at the North Intermediate school was the major project of the organization.

Gertrude Meyer, as the Princess, is not a selfish princess because she gives her whole inheritance to her mother-in-law, Edith Wambold. Don Leaman as Moroni, the lawyer, has charge of her affairs.

THE Parent-Teachers' association met on the first Wednesday of each month, at which time speakers, choruses, and play casts have appeared. An informal social hour and refreshments followed the general business meeting, giving the parents and teachers an occasion for conferences. The theme of the meetings of the year was "Worthy Home and School Membership."

The officers, elected for next year, are: Mrs. David W. Stewart, president; Mrs. L. W. Rankin, Miss Lillian B. Morgan, and Mr. George Murray, mother, teacher, and father vice presidents, respectively; Mrs. Frederick Lees, secretary; Mrs. Frank H. Dewey, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. George Murray, treasurer.

Winning first place in the state contest, the Parent-Teachers' scrapbook compiled by Mrs. A. T. Labadie, has been sent to the national contest in Denver, Colorado. The scrapbook is filled with pictures and news clippings which give an idea of what other people think of the organization. Four Saginaw scrapbooks won honors in the state contest. Results of the national contest will be announced in the fall.

BAND

Chairman William Nagel
Librarian Margaret Salisbury
Manager Glenn Westman

WITH five hundred fifty dollars worth of new instruments and thirty players, just double the amount of the previous year, the band was organized for the school year in the latter part of September under the direction of Mr. Ivan R. McCormack.

The initial appearance of the organization was at the Arthur Hill-Cass City football game. Since that time it has played at the football, basketball, and baseball events. It sponsored an all-school party in October and a tea dance in April. These were given in order to purchase additional uniforms.

The members of the band are:

THE Crucible club has completed its eighth year, being organized in 1922 by its present sponsor, Albert G. Dersch, chemistry instructor.

Membership is attained by securing a "B" average in chemistry and a "C" average in all other subjects. Falling below this standard, membership in the club is forfeited until the unsatisfactory grades are brought up.

During the past school year interesting social and scientific sessions were held. The club members enjoyed educational trips to various factories, and gas and electric works. An automobile trip was taken to the Ford Motor company's River Rouge plant, where the manufacture of steel, glass, and cement was studied.

The insignia of the club is a hexagon shaped blue pin, symbolic of the benzine ring. Upon the blue background are crossed two gold retorts, beneath which is the initial "C," in gold.

CHORUS

President	James Hanson
Secretary-Treasurer	Margaret Salisbury
Librarian	Claude Lemmer
Adviser	Mr. Ivan R. McCormack

COMBINING the boys' and girls' glee clubs this year, a mixed chorus was formed under the direction of Mr. Ivan R. McCormack, who came to Arthur Hill last September. Practices were held for the girls on Tuesdays, and for the boys on Thursdays. The combined practices met on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

The chorus was represented in the all-state music festival at Ann Arbor, May 2, by James Rankin, tenor; Ruth Hammond, soprano; Mary Smith, alto; and Claude Lemmer, bass.

Several public appearances were made by the chorus as follows:

P. T. A. program March 18.

Ames M. E. Church April 28.

P. T. A. music week program May 7.

The outstanding production of the glee clubs was the operetta, "Tulip Time," presented at South Intermediate, April 11.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS was organized in Arthur Hill for the purpose of instilling in the French students an interest in French homes, manners, literature, and art.

A point system was put into effect allowing points for members who contributed to the monthly program by rendering musical numbers, French sketches, or book reviews by French authors as Hugo, Balzac, or Anatole France. A gift such as a book or painting is the reward offered to members earning the required number of points.

As a project, Le Cercle Francais edited a small news reel, "Le Courier." Edwina Johnson acted as editor. The purpose of such a project was to give students practical experience in French composition.

During the year Eskimo pie sales were sponsored and a picnic was given for the French department June 6.

FORENSIC ACTIVITIES

THE National Honor Society for debaters, orators, and declaimers in Arthur Hill is the National Forensic League. For competing in this field the student receives a certain number of points for each activity, and upon acquiring ten points, he becomes eligible for membership. As a member he is given the privilege of wearing the Forensic key symbol.

The debate teams are composed of Edwin Arft, Carl Eggert, Bruce Hayden, Bennett McArthur, Dorothy Schroeder, and David Stewart. The question for this year was: Resolved, That a judge or board of judges should be substituted for the jury system in all state and municipal courts of Michigan.

Arthur Dunlap and Lorna Schemm represented Arthur Hill in the subdistrict contests in oratory and declamation.

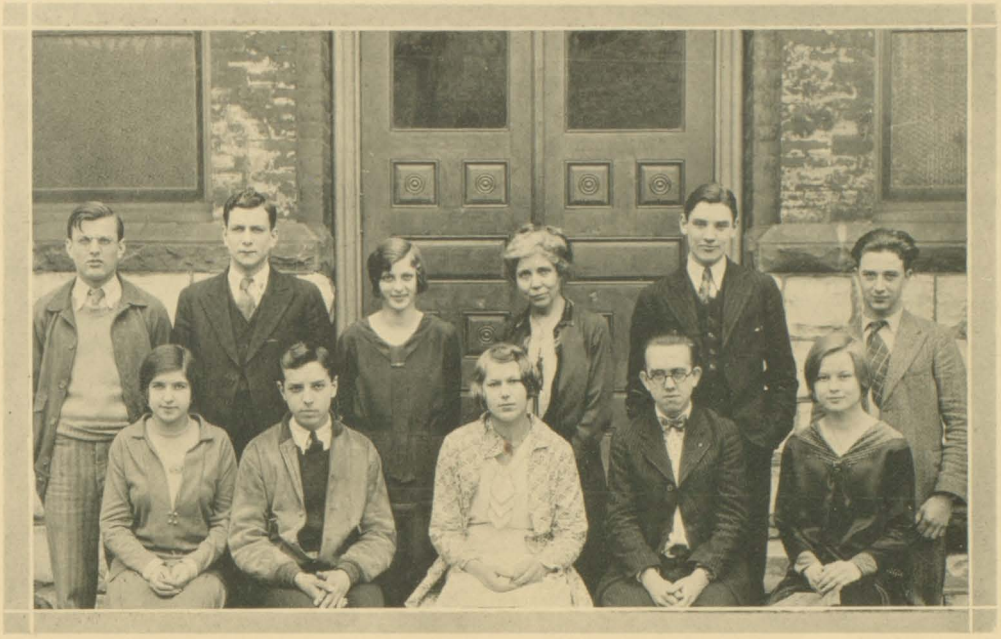

The debaters attended the championship debate at Ann Arbor, April 25.

DECLAIMER AND ORATOR

ON March 6 and 7, 1930, Arthur Dunlap, 11B and Lorna Schemm, 10A, received first places in orations and declamations, respectively, in the contests held among twenty-five declaimers and four orators of Arthur Hill.

As a result of this, the two went to the sub-district contest held in Bay City on April 11, to represent Arthur Hill. There Lorna, with her declamation, "Toussiant L'Overture," placed second in her group. Arthur received third place among the orators with the oration, "Speed with Safety."

A GERMAN club was organized in April, 1929, for the purpose of stimulating among the students an interest in Germans and Germany, its customs, music, and art. Meetings are held each second and fourth Thursday of the month, at John Moore, room four.

Many interesting programs have been held during the year, when the biographies of Wagner, Handel, and Victor Herbert were reported. Music from the famous operas was played and discussed. Games were played in German. Herr and Frau Fritz von Opel, of Germany, were guests at one of the meetings. Herr von Opel spoke on the economic conditions in Germany since the war and the educational system of Germany.

Besides these programs, the club has sponsored a sandwich sale this semester.

A point system has been organized, by which credit is given for work in the club. All credit goes toward the earning of a club pin.

All students with an average of "C" in the German classes are eligible, and anyone in high school, who can speak German, and who has an average of "B" in his work, can be a member of the club.

The members are:

A new idea came with the new year. The girls of the club aimed to carry out the motto, "To discover a new world by discovering ourselves." They divided into hobby groups of music, clogging, journalism, poetry and books, handicraft, discussions, and charm. The club held suppers jointly with the Saginaw high Girl Reserves each month. "The Feast of the Pumpkin Heads," in October, was the first one. It was followed by the "Folk Fest," and "Santa's Stampede," in November and December respectively. Julia Brown, Mary Day, Mary Lou Ellis, and Jane Knoop were sent to the annual Girl Reserve conference in Detroit during the first week of February. At the club supper, "We," in March, twenty treasure chests were sent to a mission.

On Sunday afternoon, April 13, a spring ceremonial with the Saginaw high Girl Reserves was held at the First Congregational church.

The Mother and Daughter banquet on May 15 acquainted the mothers with the club. On May 1, a tea was given for the women faculty members of Arthur Hill and Saginaw high.

An all-school dance, "The Rainbow Romp," was sponsored by the Hill group in the Annex, March 29. Several potluck suppers for the group were held in the Annex.

Old and new officers and the advisers of both schools went into retreat at the Y. M. C. A. camp at Wagner lake on May 30, 31, and June 1, in order to plan the activities for the coming school year. In June there was a final get-to-gether. By Mary Lou Ellis.

THE Home Economics club was founded in Arthur Hill in September, 1925. Its purpose is threefold: "To develop an interest in Home Economics, to be of service to the school, and to aid the community." It has been the club's aim during the past year to develop the threefold program.

Activities for the benefit of the girls have been varied. The Wednesday meetings were devoted to programs concerning some phase of economics, as health, foods, or clothing. Social affairs consisted of a potluck dinner each month, a theater party in April, and a picnic in May. During the year the girls contributed to the scrap book kept since the club's organization five years ago.

The club has served the school by sponsoring all-school affairs. With the Girl Reserves the club gave a welcoming party in September for the 10B sophomores. In January, the mid-year graduates were honored by a tea dance. On March 19 the girls were hostesses at a St. Patrick's tea dance. The club served by making tams and dolls for the Thanksgiving Day game and aiding the fourth semester clothing students to stage a style show in June. The club aided the community by giving a Christmas party for a group of children

IN accordance with the ideals of Hi-Y clubs to "create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character," the Arthur Hill chapter has sponsored its program.

Four different types of meetings were carried out by the club, namely: a night meeting purely for business; a noon meeting after a luncheon followed with a speaker or a discussion; a potluck supper with a program; and, usually a meeting once a month at one of the homes of the boys.

The club has promoted several school activities. With the co-operation of the "News" it sponsored the publication of the "Saginaw-Arthur Hill Football Handbook" last Thanksgiving. It was host to two all-school parties and planned several pep assemblies. With the co-operation of the faculty it took the initiative in the parade and pep meeting preceding the "turkey" day game.

ORCHESTRA

THE orchestra was organized this year under the leadership of the music instructor, Mr. Ivan R. McCormack, and played for assemblies, programs for the observance of music week, and the school plays.

The instrumental organization has not only worked well as a group, but has developed several individual players for higher work. Eight members of the Arthur Hill group were selected as members for the All-High School Orchestra, an honor orchestra of Saginaw, which was founded this year. Those players selected were: Claude Lemmer, bass horn; Margaret Salisbury, cello; Florence Schendel, flute; Roy Pauquette, French horn; Jack Spatz, trumpet; and Richard Dankert, Leonard Loessel, Wilfred Root, violins. Of this group, five were recommended to go to Ann Arbor to the All-State Orchestra in May. They were: Margaret Salisbury, cello; Roy Pauquette, French horn; and Richard Dankert, Leonard Loessel, Wilfred Root, violins. This is the first time in the history of Arthur Hill high school that students have been sent to the Michigan All-State Orchestra.

ADVISORY GROUPS

A NEW co-operative system was introduced into Arthur Hill on February third of this semester when the advisory groups were organized. The morning class schedule was rearranged in order to have time for this period between second and third hours. The students were alphabetically listed according to classes and assigned to groups of thirty girls for women and twenty-five boys for men teachers. Each of the thirty-seven groups elected officers and made plans for the semester program.

The purpose of the advisory group plan is to promote co-operation between the student and the teacher. Because a group continues under the same adviser for the three years of the high school course, each teacher becomes acquainted with the students in his group. He can advise on individual problems and help in the planning of courses. The three year relationship between the parents and the advisory teacher is beneficial to the student because the parents can confer with the adviser in helping a student arrange his high school career.

A survey of the things accomplished during advisories of this semester has proved the worth of the plan. Campaigns for Student Union tickets and Legenda subscriptions went over big because of the stimulus of competition among the groups. The snapshot committee of the annual conducted a contest through the advisories. At the end of the semester the secretaries' minute books will be judged and the most interesting one chosen for the files. The school flag was promoted during this extra period. Some of the groups discussed etiquette and credits needed for college entrance. Programs included debates and spelling bees. Clubs and classes used this time for meetings and elections of officers. By the intra-mural sports program for boys and girls, many students were brought into competitive games.

Next semester the plan will be carried out in much the same way. During the extra time on Friday, work which is outlined in the Manual of Guidance will be covered. Miss Francis, Mr. Lee, and Miss Peterson are working on the manual and when it is completed, it will contain material which may be used throughout the three years' course in high school. In September, a copy will be given to each advisory group.

FIRST SEMESTER STUDENT COUNCIL

President	Dorothy Schroeder
Vice President	Maurice Day
Secretary	Isabelle McKellar
Treasurer	Arthur Denglar

Sponsors—Mr. Albert Dersch, active
Mr. John Anderson, Miss Ethel Peterson, honorary

THE student council was organized last fall under a new plan. Two members were elected to represent each class and one member was chosen from each club.

As a booster club for the school, the council sponsored several pep sessions and aided in the selection of cheer leaders.

A block "A" cheering section was worked out for the Thanksgiving day game. With the Home Economics club co-operatively making yellow and blue tams, the committee arranged the group so as to make the "A" stand out in yellow against a blue background.

The council was instrumental in securing a flag as the official symbol of the school. The flag is made of blue felt with yellow symbols denoting knowledge, progress, and opportunity. The emblem occupies a permanent position at the back of the stage in the assembly room.

On January 11, the council sponsored an all-school party, "The January Thaw."

THE second semester Student Council held its organization meeting March 11, at which the above officers were elected. The regular meeting day was Wednesday during advisory periods. The council's aim is to discuss all civic affairs which affect the school body.

Membership of the council was elected from the various organizations of the school, each club being represented by one member and each of the classes by two members.

Eleven clubs and six classes are represented on the council.

It was the duty of this semester student council to nominate candidates who were eligible for the Ippel Cup and the Michigan Honor trophy. The council conducted eskimo pie sales on May 14 and June 6.

THE ARTHUR HILL NEWS

WHEN about a score of scribes entered room 6A last September to put out the Arthur Hill News, they found an office to be utilized for publication work only. After acquiring this room equipped with desks for each board member, tables, files, letter boxes, and other journalistic paraphanalia, the staff decided that it would be only fitting to change the high school paper from a bi-weekly to a weekly publication as a slight token of appreciation.

Twenty-eight issues have been published during the school year including four six page issues in recognition of "Sportsmanship," the Arthur Hill-Saginaw high football game, the January graduation class, and the basketball tournament. April was greeted with a take-off on the Saginaw Daily News. One eight page issue devoted to literary efforts of the journalism and English classes was published.

November 14, 15, and 16 were important days for the writers when ten of them and Miss Mattie Crump, adviser, attended the state press convention for high school journalists at Ann Arbor.

Immediately upon returning, the staff edited the Hi-Y football handbook published for the Thanksgiving day game.

On the same day, the board entertained the staff at a "get acquainted" potluck and party in room 6A and later went to the Arthur Hill-Owosso basketball game in the Annex.

Fifteen members of the board had the required amount of inches published during the year to be recommended and approved by the Quill and Scroll, National Honorary Society for High School Journalists.

As editing seemed to particularly fall in its line of work, the board next published a style sheet for the Arthur Hill News that the staff might be more consistent in its writing.

The next duty falling upon the News was the joint compilation of the annual Legenda with a representative board from the six classes. This is the last edition of the paper.

MISS FRANCIS' ADVISORY GROUP

President.....Dorothea Rippberger
Vice President.....Vice President
Secretary.....Amy Schulz
Adviser.....Miss Bernice Francis

THE advisory group of Miss Francis started its threefold program of period, athletic, and social activities in February along with its thirty-five companion groups.

The daily period was used for study of parliamentary procedure, appropriate manners, and scholarship.

The "Wizard Sextet," basketball team, under the captaincy of Arlene Strobel, had an active season, climbing on the ladder from number 23 to 15 and winning five out of seven games played.

A potluck at the home of Arlene Strobel turned into a theater party when the group attended the movie, "The Son of the Gods."

A progressive skating party, due to the untimely rain, was converted into an evening supper and games at the home of Dorothea Rippberger.

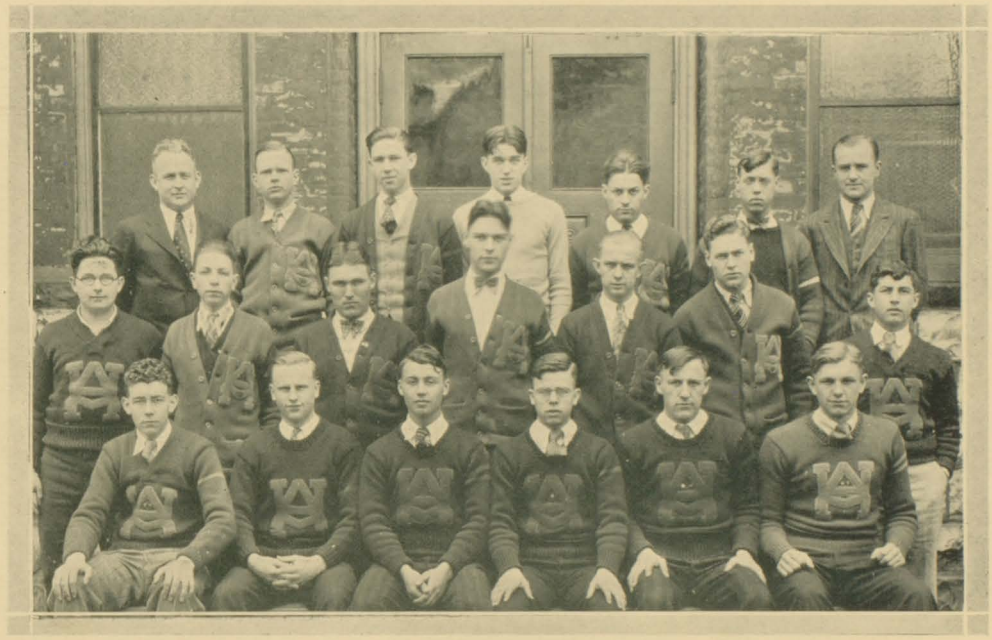

This page in the Legenda was earned by the efforts of those girls in the group who were enthusiastic photographers. They contributed the largest number of snapshots in the annual contest.

DOROTHY VERNON OF HADDON HALL

"PERKINS, what harm to press our jest upon some pretty issue," said Sir John Manners, Lester Freidinger, to the jester, Dorothy Schroeder, and thus began for himself a series of complications which lead to his exile as the fulfillment of his part in the Senior class play, "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall."

The four-act drama by Paul Kester was a romance of love and danger; excitement and daring. The setting of the play was that of Elizabethan days and the ancestral homes of the families of Rutland and Vernon formed the background for the action.

Three acts took place on the estate of Sir George Vernon. The scene for the first and last acts was the terrace of Haddon Hall, and the second act was in Dorothy's room. The third act was staged in the watch room of Rutland castle.

The plot centered around the desire of Sir George Vernon, Carl Eggert, to have his daughter Dorothy, Clarissa Buettner, marry her cousin, Sir Malcolm Vernon, Harold Riedel. Lady Vernon, Malcolm's mother, Dorothea Rippberger, had pushed her son's case until the marriage became Sir George's obsession. Sir John Manners and his father, the Earl of Rutland, Ernest Brater, determined to upset this plan by holding Sir George to an old bargain made years before which stipulated that John and Dorothy should marry.

Sir John came to seek Dorothy as his wife and almost lost his life. Queen Elizabeth, Emiline Brenner, only pardoned him when Dorothy obtained from his lips the information concerning her bitterest rival, Mary, Queen of Scots, Doraldyne Schindehette.

Elizabeth moved to action, urged by her prime minister, Lord Burleigh, Kay Starkweather. Then, ensued a wild, unseen ride by Dorothy disguised as her maid, Jennie Faxton, Henrietta Peckover. Mary of Scots escaped, leaving Dorothy to be set upon by Sir Malcolm. The arrival of Sir John, the Captain of the Yeoman Guard, Walter Kirchner, and his men-at-arms, Ralph Bernecker, Arthur Fruechtel, and Arnold Morrison, saved her from death.

One of the fine points of the play was the splendid piece of acting done by Dorothy Schroeder in the male role of Perkin, the jester to the Earl of Rutland. She expressed pathos and merriment with a reality which was convincing. Clarissa Buettner and Lester Freidinger were so enthusiastic that the audience was in entire sympathy with their wish to have each other.

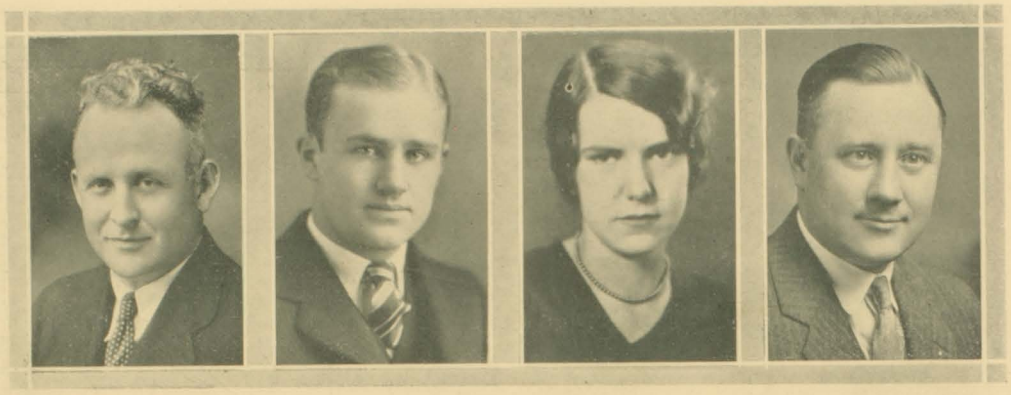

The other members of the cast were: Will Dawson, a retainer at Haddon Hall, Don Wells; Mark, the butcher at Haddon Hall, Kenneth Phillips; Gregory, a servant at Rutland castle, Stanley Graham; Bess, the cook at Haddon Hall, Mary Hayden; ladies-in-waiting, Lolita Champion and Isabelle McKellar; and servants, Elizabeth Duff, Helen Gunther, Eleanor Herzberg, Edwina Johnson, Ida Oserowsky, and Elizabeth Teck.

Stanley Schubert, dramatic coach, spent a great deal of time perfecting the play for its presentation on May 9 at North Intermediate school.

Other people who helped in the production of the play were: advisers and business managers, Miss Fox and Miss Francis; cornet, Glenn Westman; costumes, Betty Jeffrey, Virginia Morgan, and Miss Wells; head usher, Mr. Poulson; make-up, Miss Daniel, Elizabeth Duff, and Miss Laughlin; programs, Charles Khuen and Howard Otto; prompters, Eleanor Pollard and Muriel Sxhultz; and stage managers, Raymond Becker and Don Wells. By Eleanor Pollard.

ATHLETICS

STANLEY ANDERSON

Coach Anderson, a man of integrity and persistence, is responsible for much of the winning spirit of the school. Mr. Anderson has been with Arthur Hill for the past three years and has been successful in promoting winning teams.

WILFRED T. SCHOEN

DURING his first year at Arthur Hill, Mr. Wilfred T. Schoen has been assistant football coach, second team basketball instructor, and track coach in addition to teaching the boys' gym classes. He served on the committee in charge of boys' intra-murals.

ELIZABETH NEWMAN

"ENTHUSIASM of advisers and advisory groups has made a successful girls' intra-mural athletic program possible," says Miss Elizabeth Newman, girls' athletic instructor.

B. J. WELLS

A PERSON to whom the Hillites owe much for the excellent handling of the financial side of sports in our school and the student union ticket is Ben Wells, commercial teacher.

FOOTBALL

TIME: 1940. PLACE: THE LIBRARY OF THE ARTHUR HILL ALUMNI CLUB.

AS THE CURTAIN RISES TWO OLD ALUMNI OF ARTHUR HILL ARE SEEN SITTING BEFORE A FIREPLACE READING THE SPORTING SECTION OF THE LATEST NEWSPAPER.

—"Speaking about football teams, be sure and don't forget that old Arthur Hill team of '30. Not that they won so many games, but the old fighting spirit was there in every game.

"Why, it seems just yesterday we played Cass City, doesn't it?

"Yep, it was on September 21. Funny how a fellow remembers that sort of thing.

"Remember the first two periods, no scoring and then Arthur Hill tore the Cass City line to pieces and scored two touchdowns. The final score was 12-0.

"That was the game Willard Ducharme's punting and passing, and Russ Knippel's work at end stood out.

"The next Saturday the team showed its same old fighting spirit. Alpena was leading 13-7 and only three minutes to play. Bang! Three passes and a line play tied the score at 13 points apiece and Arthur Hill held it.

"St. Andrew's surprised us the next game, October 5, when they held the Hills to a 6-6 tie. They made a touchdown on a recovered fumble, and, though Arthur Hill outplayed them, the Hillites couldn't put over the winning run.

"The Blue and Gold opened up its passing attack too late to do any harm, that day.

"Its passing game was shown well on October 12, when it played Lansing Eastern, at Lansing.

"That was a game of thrills, wasn't it? Remember? Lansing got the jump on us in the first quarter, getting two touchdowns. Bingo! In the second period Willard Ducharme galloped 80 yards for a touchdown. Boy! That brought the stands to their feet.

"Eastern got another six points in that period, didn't it?

"Yes. But in the second half Saginaw's aerial play worked well, Ducharme to Engel, Ducharme to Kahn. Arthur Hill outplayed the Quakers completely in the last half, but the score ended 18-6, favor of Lansing.

"The Hillites played one of their best games against the Valley champions, when they traveled to Bay City, and met central, October 19. They played a great defensive game and held the Indians to a 14-0 score. Howard Ducharme's 20 yard run, when he was almost clear, was Arthur Hill's best scoring chance. Knippel out-punted his opponent consistently, and Willard Ducharme's work on both defense and offense showed up well.

"Passes played an important part in the next game in which Flint Central was our opponent. The game was played at Alumni field, October 26. An intercepted pass gave Arthur Hill the pig-skin. A 25 yard heave from Captain Ducharme to Chuck Mayne proved a great factor in the 7-7 tie. Mayne to Knippel, via air, sent the ball over for the extra point. Abe Kahn's all around play stood out, although honors were divided very evenly.

"Pontiac's speedy backfield was too much for our fellows in the next game, at home, November 2. They ran the ends and crashed the line for a 25-6 win.

"I remember that Freddie George gained a touchdown by a quarterback sneak after Abe Kahn and the Ducharme brothers put the oval on the 4 yard line.

"The Hills took the air again at Owosso, November 8, and won a 32-13 decision.

"That was the time Captain Ducharme tossed the oval to Kahn, Engel, and George, for long or short distances, high or low, whenever and wherever he wanted to.

"Ha! Ha! Remember when one of the Owosso players accused Engel of having a pigskin concealed in his sleeve, the way he was picking them out of the air.

"The Arthur Hill squad opened up on passes too late in the next game. We opposed the Vehics on their home field, November 16. The Flint boys made touchdowns in the first, second, and third periods. Near the end of the third quarter, the Hills recovered Flint's fumble on the Vikings' 20 yard line, but didn't have the punch to push over the score. The game ended with Arthur Hill on the small end of a 19-0 game.

"But the game of games was the Turkey Day scrap with Saginaw high. Wowee! What a game. The dope all favored the East siders to win. It looked that way for a while. In the first period, Ducharme's punt was carried by the wind back to the two yard line, where James Ikner fell over the line for the first tally.

"It surely did look bad then, didn't it? The West siders outplayed Saginaw, but were held on the five yard line. The third period, though, was a thriller. Remember that 35 yard drive the Blue and Gold made?

"A pass to Engel, and—
"A couple of line smashes,
"And the new spread formation.
"Boy! Eastern was sure fooled that time.
"Bang! And when the dust cleared away there was George with the tying touchdown.
"That didn't end the excitement by any means. Saginaw blocked the Hillites kick for goal, and the count was 6 all.
"Both teams took to the air to break the deadlock.
"Willard Ducharme saved the game, though. Don't forget that.
"Yes, when he tackled Ikner on the four yard line just as the game ended.
"Dewey was the last defense man, too.
"That game surely was good to the last play.
"Who got their letters that year?
"Let's see. There was Charles Brenner, Les Cradit, Bill Curott, Maurice Day, Howard and Willard Ducharme—
"And Ken Engel, Harold Gaertner, captain-elect Fred George, Hick Hanson—
"Dick Harrison, Art Kackmeister, Abe Kahn, Russ Knippel, and Kenneth Phillips.
"Carl Eggert and Fred Davis won managers' letters."

BASKETBALL

All State Center

SIX foot three in his stocking feet—no wonder he could play basketball. Who? Russell Knippel, all-state basketball man is the boy. Russ won this honor by his fine playing in the state tournament. With his extreme height for a high school student, he could easily control the tip at center and many a time batted the ball through the meshes from off the backboard. All through the season Russ played a stellar game at center and at the end of the season his team-mates elected him honorary captain.

Stretch, as he was called by Valley fans, not only played basketball, but football, baseball, and track as well. Again his height made him the ideal man for end in football and first baseman in baseball. His long legs enabled him to compete in the high jump. In this event he tied for first place at the Flint regional track meet in 1929. This allowed him to compete in the state meet at Lansing.

Russell came to Arthur Hill from North Intermediate in September, 1927. At present he is a 12B student.

CLASS "A" REGIONAL TOURNAMENT

After a slow first half Arthur Hill came back to win the first game of the regional tournament, 28-15, from Flint Northern at Central Junior, March 13.

Morrison and Kackmeister delivered foul throws at the crucial moment of the second game of the tourney, with Bay City Central, forcing it into an overtime period. Morrison's free throw, the only overtime score, gave Arthur Hill a 11-10 victory in a great defensive game. The Blue and Gold team crashed through Flint Central's defense, March 15, and defeated them, 23 to 17, thereby winning the regional tournament and the right to go into State competition at Detroit.

STATE CLASS "A" TOURNAMENT—DETROIT

Going into the first round of the state tourney the under-dogs, Arthur Hill upset the dope and downed Detroit Southeastern 31-25, March 20. The whole team functioned well. Knippel got twelve points, Kackmeister eight, and acting-captain Maturen scored seven.

The semi-finals of the state tournament, played at the Olympia arena, March 21, saw Arthur Hill eliminated by the Kalamazoo five, 24-21. Although they led at two points of the game by six points, the Hill's defense, weakened by Maturen's removal, was unable to stop the strong Western team's powerful offensive drive.

BASKETBALL

THE 1929-30 basketball season at Arthur Hill has been most successful. Ending Valley competition in a three-way tie with Bay City Central and Flint Northern, the Hillites proved their superiority by defeating both of these teams in the regional tournament, which the Hills won for the first time in ten years. They traveled to Detroit and reached the semi-finals before being eliminated by Kalamazoo.

Their powerful offense scored a total of 405 points in the fifteen games of the regular schedule. Their opponents were held to 259 tallies. Eleven games were won, and only four were lost by a total of seven points.

The Arthur Hill team easily won its first game from Trade 35-17, December 11, at Trade. The second game was won from Detroit Eastern, 25-22, December 12, in the Annex. The final count in the January 1, Alumni game, was 25-17, favoring the Hills. The Hillites won their next two games at home, over Hamtramck, 34-23, January 10, and 17-15 from Bay City Central. The next game, January 24, at Flint, was lost 21-22 to Flint Central. Our traditional rivals, Saginaw high, met defeat in the Annex, January 29, 29-21. Flint Northern was the next victim, losing to the Hills, 20-16, January 31. Arthur Hill went to Owosso and brought home a 29-13 win, February 5. The Bay City Central team won a 13-15 victory on its home floor from the Blue and Gold, February 14. The Hill giants swamped Flint Central in a game in the Annex, in a shower of baskets to win 37-11, February 19.

February 21, the Hillites lost to Flint Northern, at Flint, 13-16. Arthur Hill repeated its first victory over Saginaw high and won 38-24, on Eastern's home floor. The Hills lost to Lansing 20-21, at Lansing, March 1. The regular season closed with a bang, when the Hills trounced Owosso, 49-6, in the Annex, March 1.

TRACK

COMPOSED of almost all new men, the track team coached by Mr. Wilfred Schoen, was rather weak this year, but the men made a good showing for a green team. The promises for the strength of next year's squad are great.

The team competed with Saginaw High, Flint Central, Flint Northern, Bay City Central, Lansing Eastern, Port Huron, Alma, and St. Johns. By Edmund Arnold.

BASKETBALL RESERVES

COACHED by Mr. Wilfred Schoen, the basketball reserves went through the season, winning seven games and losing six. Michigan Lutheran Seminary team was defeated twice, 17-14, and 24-16. The second team tied with Saginaw, winning the first encounter 22-21, and losing the second 9-32. Flint Central lost to the Hills 26-22 and won 20-14. Bay City repeated the tale with a 14-9 loss and a 14-11 win from the Hillites. The Hills were firmly established in the habit when they met Flint Northern. The reserves won 27-23 and lost 23-12. They defeated Clio 23-13, and lost to the state champions, the Y-Blues twice by close scores.

INTRA-MURALS

WITH the opening of the second semester, the boys' intra-mural program was placed on a new basis. Instead of having a team representing each of the six classes, each advisory group entered a team. In this way many more fellows competed than in former years. The basketball league contest composed of thirteen teams was won by Mr. I. R. McCormack's Panthers, a 10A group. Horseshoe pitching was next on the program. Each advisory group had play-offs to decide its champions, and the champion and runner-up represented their group in the all-school tournament. Soft ball and inter-class track were offered.

Mr. Stanley Anderson, Mr. I. M. Brock, Mr. Wilfred Schoen, and Mr. William Lee composed the committee which scheduled all games and settled all disputes.

BASEBALL

THE baseball team, coached by Mr. Stanley Anderson, had a mediocre season. They have met Saginaw Eastern, Flint Central, and Flint Northern away from home and have lost to them. On their own field the Hillites defeated Flint Central and lost to Bay City Central.

Six of the regulars will return next year as will many of the reserves, and the prospects for next season's squad are good. The following men made up the team: Fred George, Willard Ducharme, Harold Riedel, Rankin Young, Frank Ribble, Fred Riedlinger, William Stoddard, Howard Ducharme, Arthur Kackmeister, Arnold Nuechterlein, William Maturen, Leo Herman, Andrew Maturen, Charles Mayne, Larry Cantu, Carl Frye, Robert Harnden, Richard Shoskey, Wallace Thompson, and Vernon Weisenbaugh.

GIRLS' VOLLEY BALL

THE girls' volleyball team of '29 started with a bang, and continued throughout the season carrying the Hillites to the championship of the city. The first game on November 7 was played in the Arthur Hill Annex. The score was as follows:

Arthur Hill first game	15	Saginaw high first game	12
Arthur Hill second game	15	Saginaw high second game	11

The game was refereed by Miss Elizabeth Newman and Miss Daily of Arthur Hill and Saginaw high, respectively.

The second team played but one city game throughout the season. They were victorious over Saginaw high on the same day as the first team won the city title.

GIRLS' BASEBALL

AND now we're ready for the girls' baseball tournament. Miss Lewis, Miss Bechtold, and Miss Wells will combine their groups to get a 10B team organized. Mrs. Giesel, Mrs. Brown, and Miss Hicks will work together for a 10A team, while Miss Daniel, Miss Olsen, Miss Stinetorf, and Mrs. Hardesty will organize another 10A team. Miss Start, Miss Howe, and Miss Thompson will combine as an 11B representative. Miss Peterson, Miss Vanderhoof, Miss Laughlin, and Miss Newman will have a combined 11A group. Miss Woodman, Miss Francis, and Miss Crump will organize their 12B ball players, and Mrs. Lamb, Miss Gibbs, Miss Fox, and Miss Taylor will get a team representing the 12A's.

All games will be played on the ground by the Annex.

GIRLS' LADDER TOURNAMENT

THE girls' ladder tournament in basketball came to a close, April 1, with the Flashes on top, having defeated the Stalagmites 17-7. The Flashes drew number 23 position on the ladder, and made the most outstanding progress of any team, playing eleven games, and winning all of them. The K. P.'s, Miss Hick's advisory group, finished in second place.

Miss Elizabeth Newman, said, "Every team and adviser took their responsibilities well, and their interest and determination made the tournament a success."

FEATURES

ARTHUR HILL

IN a book which has lumbering as its theme it would be impossible to omit mentioning the man who was actively connected with the lumber industry all his life, and is of added interest to Hillites because the Arthur Hill high school was named after him.

Arthur Hill was born in the center of the lumbering country, St. Clair, Michigan, March 15, 1847. Both parents, John H. and Lucretia Brown Hill were born in Michigan.

He entered the University of Michigan in 1862, and was graduated as a Civil Engineer in 1865. After a few months of railroad engineering in Minnesota, he entered the law school at the University. After his return to Saginaw, he began a lumbering, manufacturing, and shipping business, which soon became one of the largest of its kind.

Mr. Hill was active in political affairs. He served three terms as mayor, and was president of the Board of Education for five years. He was one of the first two appointees to the State Board of Forestry Commissioners, receiving the assignment in 1899. He was made a Regent of the University on the death of Regent Cocker, and filled the vacancy from 1901 to 1906. In the election of 1905 he was elected to succeed himself for the next term of eight years.

Mr. Hill was prominent in the educational advancement of Saginaw. In 1893 he established four scholarships at the University for seniors who attend the school which was named for him. The Arthur Hill Trade school was a gift from him as was the Hill auditorium at Ann Arbor. He presented to the University a tract of eighty acres, the Saginaw Forest Farm, near Ann Arbor, for the purpose of facilitating instruction of forestry.

In 1909 when the great Michigan lumber industry began to decline, Arthur Hill, who had been connected with lumbering all of his life, died.

THE emblem of the school should be held in high regard among the students. Nothing else could speak more eloquently of our respect than a banner at all school functions.

The first semester student council as a committee has spent a great deal of time and thought on this project.

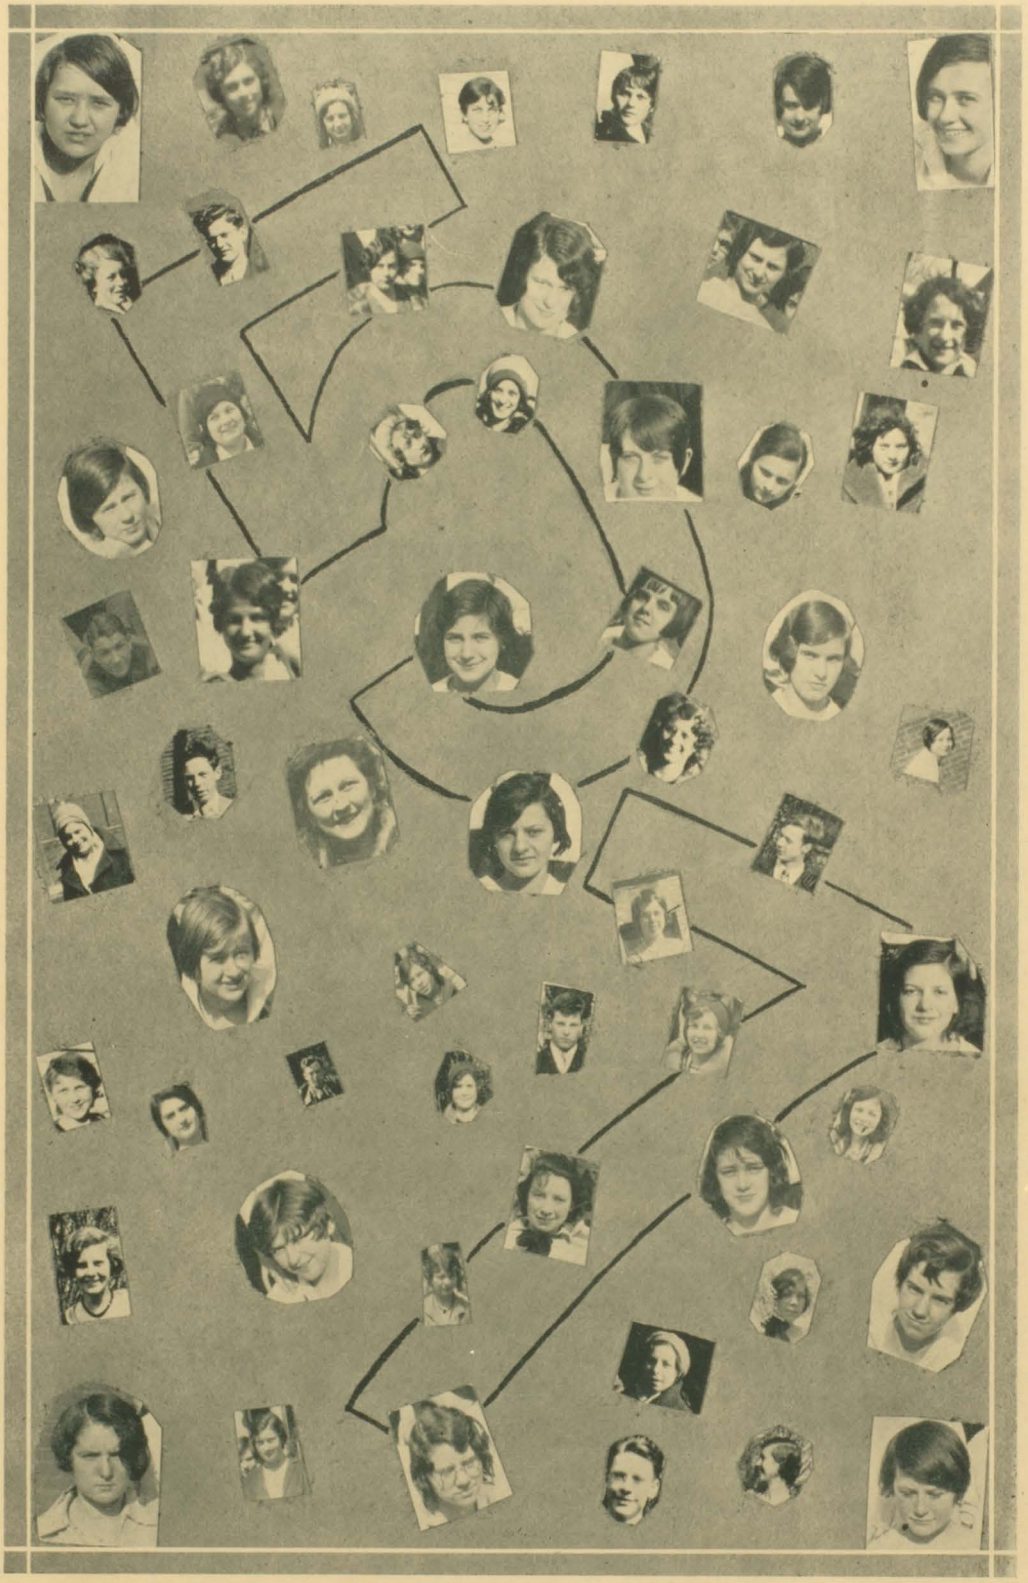

HOBO PARADE

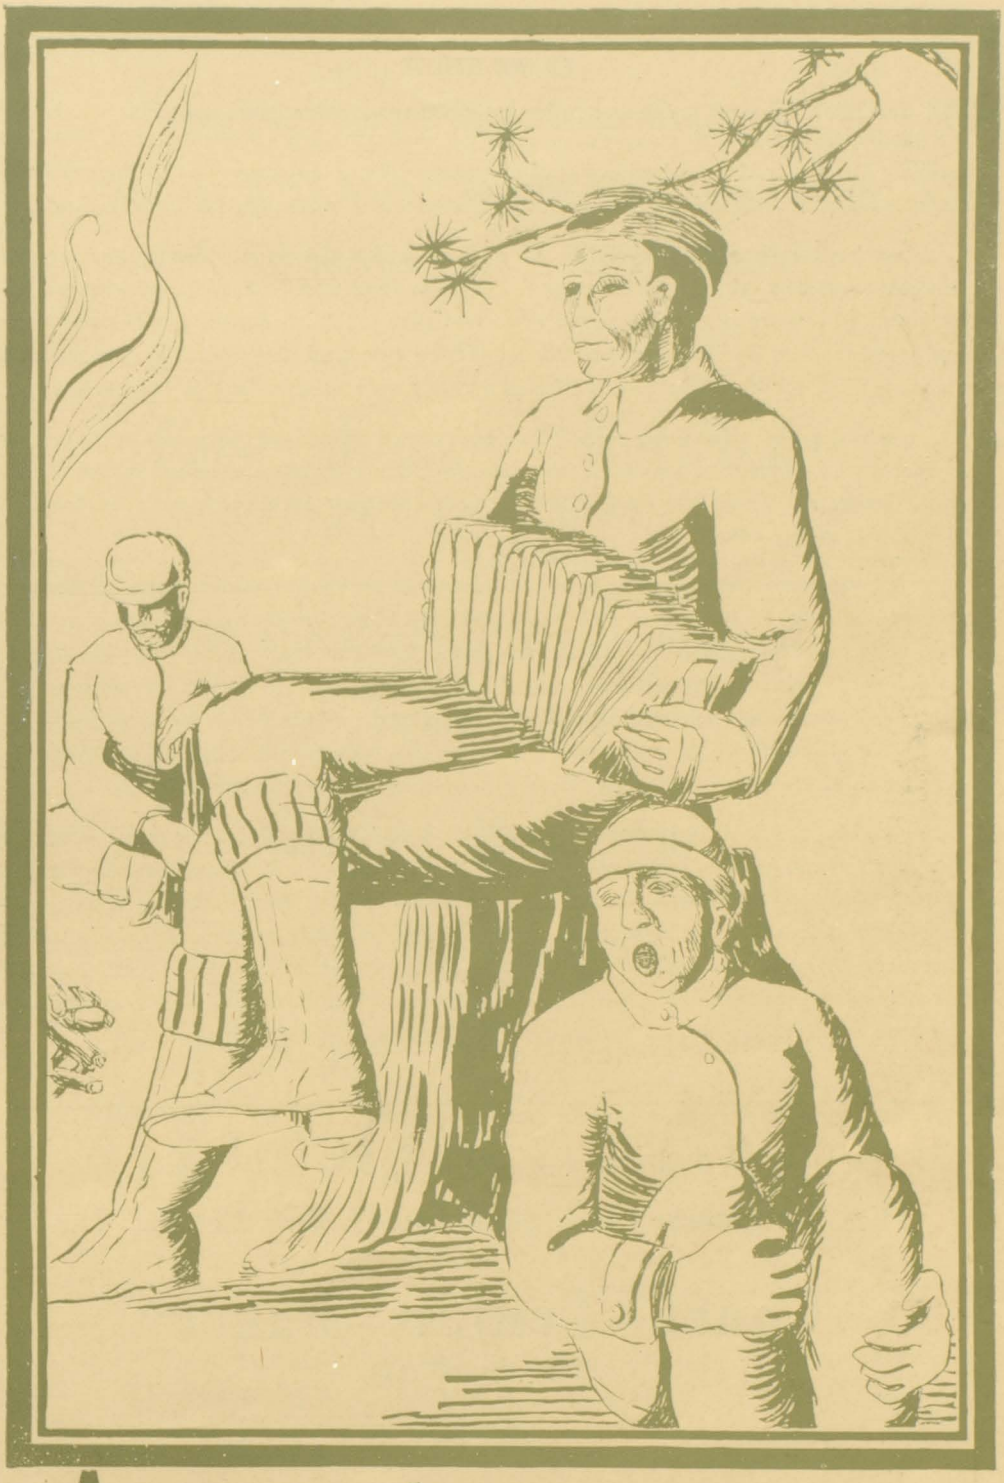

"WELL, for goodness sakes, where did they get the old moth-eaten horses?" asked a shivering by-stander, who was perched on a fire hydrant, watching the passing of Arthur Hill's first annual ho' o parade.

The novel event, which was sponsored by the Hi-Y club, took place on Thanksgiving Day, just a few hours prior to the Turkey Day game. In spite of the intense cold, it served to raise enthusiasm and school spirit to a high pitch.

The parade consisted of floats, stunts, and decorated cars, led by the band and the Arts Dramatic club float. It made a tour of the district surrounding the school, then returned to the school yard for the judging and awarding of the prizes to the best stunts and floats. Prizes were offered by West side business men.

ADVERTISING

AS WE SEE IT

ON the following pages are the advertisements of Saginaw merchants and firms. It is they who have, through their co-operation, made the graduation edition of the Arthur Hill News possible. The senior class and annual staff appreciates this co-operation just as the merchants and firms appreciate the privilege of reaching the student body through the Legenda pages.

Advertisers are beginning to realize the gigantic buying power that modern youth exerts. High school students of today are largely entrusted to their own discretion in money matters. Not only that but young people play an important part in influencing the purchases made by their parents. It is therefore necessary for advertisers to appeal directly to the younger set in order to produce results. This may be effected by using the school publication as a medium.

Time and again it has been proved that high school advertising does pay the advertiser. Merchants who advertise to any extent know this and frequently report excellent results. Occasionally, however, the solicitor comes in contact with a business person who must be shown the value of high school advertising.

A few years ago, the proprietor of a well known beauty shop refused to listen to the arguments of a solicitor for the Arthur Hill News. Finally the solicitor hit upon a plan to prove her story. She made an agreement with the proprietor that if an "ad" which she, (the solicitor) would draw up did not bring satisfactory results, she would pay for it herself. In the next issue of the paper was an advertisement featuring the new "Arthur Hill Bob," for a certain beauty shop. That afternoon the proprietor of the shop was well convinced that high school advertising was a practical business by the long line of girls waiting for the "Arthur Hill Bob."

Youth cannot afford to overlook these excellent messages that advertisers offer. When you see a merchant advertising milk shakes, remember what a part milk shakes have had in your high school career, and remember that if this merchant had not been willing to advertise, the chances of your reading this book would be made just that much smaller. The address of the advertiser selling the milk shakes is important. Then there are the clothing stores the banks, shoe stores, beauty shops, and a host of other businesses which have done their part in making your book possible.

Distinctive Apparel For The High School Girl

Times progress, and so it is today that the graduating girl and her underclassmen demand as stylish clothes as the society matron.

Modern school girls appreciate the value of being well groomed; and they know where to find the clothes that produce this effect at a reasonable cost. That is why we appeal to the younger set.
